Newsletter of the Irish Fulbright Alumni Association

Number 16

Autumn 2004

From the Editor

Welcome to the Autumn 2004 Irish Fulbright News. The Association's activities continue apace resulting in the longest newsletter yet! Included here by dates for your diary over the coming months and by brief reports on the Association's activities in the period since the last newsletter. We look forward to seeing as many of the Association's members as possible at the Fulbright Concert and/or the Annual Thanksgiving Dinner to be hosted by NUI Maynooth.

I would particularly draw your attention to the information regarding the Fulbright Academy and the Fulbright Awards 2005-06 on page 6 of the newsletter.

This edition also sets out the Irish Fulbright Awardees for 2004-2005 and once more represents an eclectic range of the country's highest academic talent. We wish the 2004-05 Fulbrighters well in the U.S. and look forward to seeing them at future IFAA occasions over the coming years.

Beir bua le linn na bliana atá romhainn.

Dr. Ciarán Ó hÓgartaigh

Fulbright Concert

As previously circulated, a concert of Beethoven Piano Sonatas by John O'Connor at the National Concert Hall on 18th October, 2004 will be the first event of the IFAA calendar for 2004-05.

The NCH has kindly offered us a number of complimentary tickets for this concert. We are very grateful for this important gesture of support by the NCH for the Fulbright Programme in Ireland. The concert is preceded by a thirty-minute talk on the music by John O'Connor at 7.15pm. The programme will include Sonatas No. 4 in E flat Op. 7, No. 5 in C minor Op. 10/1, No. 6 in F major Op. 10/2 and No. 7 in D major Op. 10/3. There will be a drinks party afterwards. Tickets are available on a first come, first served basis from John Hurley at

Fulbrighters in the News

Aidan Moran publishes new book on sport psychology

A new book by IFAA member, Prof Aidan Moran (Department of Psychology, UCD), entitled "Sport and Exercise Psychology: A Critical Introduction" (Routledge/Psychology Press, 2004), explains the theory and practice of helping athletes to do their best when it matters most. Endorsed by Ireland's world top-10 golfer, Pádraig Harrington, the book was launched by Brian Kerr (manager of the Irish international soccer team).

Fulbright AGM

Our annual general meeting was held this year on the 30th of April, 2004. The Committee wishes to express its thanks to Provost John Hegarty for his gracious hospitality when he opened his house at Trinity College (interior pictured below) to us for our meeting. We also wish to thank Professor Hegarty's wife, Neasa Ni Chinneide, for her excellent tour of the house. The group was particularly interested in the collection of Yeats paintings current on display, and the portrait of the first Provost.

At the meeting the officers presented their reports to the general assembly and elections were held for membership of the Executive Committee. A number of members retired by rotation, and we are pleased to re-elect Francis McGoldrick as Hon. Treasurer.

We welcome the newly elected members Professor Tom Bolger, Mr. Paul Donnelly, Dr. Maeve Martin and H.E. Dr. Alberto Schepisi to the Executive Committee. The meeting concluded with the committee looking forward to another productive year.

Notice from the Fulbright Academy

Fellow Fulbrighters,

“The Fulbright Academy is a recently formed body to bring together Fulbrighters with scientific interest. Their web page describes them as follows:

The Fulbright Academy of Science & Technology supports the advancement of knowledge and international understanding by linking the current generation of leaders in science and technology from around the world and using that network to address issues of critical concern. We actively promote the work done by Fulbright Scholars so that others can benefit from our expertise.

The Fulbright Academy of Science and Technology (FAST) is a global non-profit organization that fills a particular niche - a body that brings the knowledge and expertise of Fulbrighters to bear on some critical problems of global concern, such as poverty alleviation, primary and secondary education, health, and environmental sustainability.

The Fulbright Academy is the only global organization for Fulbrighters. It has relationships with directors and staff at institutions worldwide, including many of the national and bi-national Fulbright entities. The Academy is not affiliated with the US State Department or with the Fulbright Association.

We look forward to your membership in the Academy. Please note that membership is not limited to Fulbright scholars; membership is open to any individual or entity that is interested in the international dimensions of science, medicine, engineering, technology innovation, and economic development.”
